

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE COLLEGE FUNDS NOW IS WELL UNDER WAY

Committee Energetic Business Men Named to Take Charge; $600 Now Pledged; Open Headquarters This Morning in the El Paso Bank Building

With the appointment of prominent business men of the city as a committee, headed by E. W. Giddings as chairman, to take charge of the whirlwind campaign to raise $10,000 for Colorado college before January 1, the campaign was actively launched yesterday, and prospects are bright for its success. J. M. Bemis contributed $200, and A. F. Bemis, a student at the college 25 years ago, gave $100, while the college alumni living in the Pikes Peak region also are active on behalf of their alma mater. They raised $300 yesterday, making a total of $600 already. The business men realize what the college means to Colorado Springs, and are determined to assure the $100,000 men's building and also the endowment fund by raising the $10,000 necessary to be pledged here.

Headquarters will be opened this morning at room 7, El Paso bank building. A telephone will be installed early in the morning, and the number may be obtained from "information."

The committee met yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce and discussed ways and means for the campaign.

In response to a request by Chairman Giddings, for a statement as to the financial value of Colorado college to the city, President Woodson said that there are now in all departments of the institution some 600 students on the campus and 54 members of the various faculties. With these members of families connected with the college in one way or another, employees and their families, about 1,000 people are added to the city by the fact that the college is here.

College Spends $350,000 Annually.

Dr. Stocum declared that a very careful estimate has been made of the amount of money the college now expends annually. Colorado Springs through people. "Settled with it—in the purchase of supplies, in wages and in various other things which require such expenditure—and that it has been found that the total amount to more than $350,000. This money is brought into the city, mostly in the college students, the interest on loans in various parts of the state and gifts received from all sections of the country. It is not, for the most part, money taken from one citizen and passed over to another, but it is largely added to the resources of the community. For example, Dr. Stocum cited the $100,000 given by Mrs. Willard for the new men's building. All this, in one way and another, passes into circulation into this community.

Dr. Stocum stated that the endowments of the college are invested almost entirely in this state, and have helped substantially in its development; but the greatest financial benefit of the college has been to the city of Colorado Springs. He explained that it is difficult to trace all the thousands of dollars that are expended monthly here, but they do pass, in one way and another, into the banking and business of this community. What the college is today is by no means what it will be in the future. Every year its resources and its expenditures will increase, and so it will.

WARD OFF MACHINE CONTROL—JOHNSON

Says Old Gang Is Trying to Disrupt Progressives in California

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—"Don't let the ranks be divided. The old machine is in full swing again, hoping to come back into power. But the people will never go back to the infamy and degradation they knew prior to 1910." This was one of Governor Johnson's few references to state politics in his address at the banquet tendered him tonight by the county central committee of the Progressive party. As this was the governor's first speech since his return from the east, most of it was taken up with his experience during the recent campaign, when he took the place of Colonel Roosevelt in the eastern states, after the Progressive candidate for president was wounded in Milwaukee. He discussed the future of the Progressive party, declaring that a doctrine which had appealed to 4,000,000 people in two and a half months was bound to succeed.

Speaking of state politics, he said that certain agencies were at work trying to cause dissension within the ranks of the California Progressives, and he appealed to his hearers to stand fast in their adherence to Progressive principles. These same agencies are trying to create dissension in the next legislature, he said.

MAX VON BULOW KILLED BY TRAIN

BODY IS FOUND NEAR THE NEVADA STATE LINE

Well Known Here; Supposed to Be a Count and Descendant of Famous German

Count Max von Bulow, of Berlin, as he was known here, said to be a descendant of Count von Bulow, the famous German military officer, was picked up on a railroad track near the Nevada state line a few hours before daylight yesterday morning, according to press dispatches last night. He died soon after being admitted to the hospital in the town of Sparks, Nev.

Count von Bulow was a soldier of fortune and a globe trotter who had experienced all the ups and downs that go to make up the life of a wanderer. He was first "discovered" by a Gazette reporter, several years ago, when he was working as a porter at the Cliff house, Manitou, and from that time on the count was made the subject of innumerable newspaper stories. His many eccentricities made him good "copy," and his escapades have been chronicled all over the country.

From Manitou and Colorado Springs Count von Bulow drifted to Pueblo, where he married Miss Christine Fluener, a middle-aged woman with romantic ideas, and who possessed a fortune estimated at from $200,000 to $400,000. They spent their honeymoon traveling through Europe in legal style, but the romance of married life soon came to an end, so far as the countess was concerned, and when she returned to the states she appealed to the courts for a divorce. The decree was granted, and von Bulow again found himself a penniless soldier of fortune.

Disappeared a Year Ago.

Trifling about from one part of the country to another, the count returned to Pueblo, about a year ago, presumably to seek a reconciliation with his divorced wife. He learned then that she had died but a short time before, and that her will contained no bequest for him. He disappeared the same night, and since that time nothing was known about him by his acquaintances in Colorado.

It always has been a matter of speculation whether von Bulow was a descendant of the German nobleman whose name he bore, although he had in his possession when in Colorado Springs a number of letters and papers.

SCHOONER AFIRE IN HEAVY GALE

MARITIME DISASTERS NUMEROUS

Crew Rescued From Vessel Off Carolina Coast in Nick of Time

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 27.—Following the receipt of a wireless report that an unknown schooner was afloat 12 miles southeast of Block Island, without possibility of receiving assistance from life-saving stations, because of the heavy gale, and high seas that prevail, the revenue cutter Seneca was dispatched tonight from New London, Conn., to the rescue. Word was also sent to the cutter Acushnet, at Woodsol, Mass., and she is expected to go to the scene.

The report came from the New Shoreham life-saving station on Block Island. The message said a resident of the island, Warren Ball, had seen what he thought was a schooner afloat 12 miles southeast of the island. Because of the distance and the thick weather, he could not make an accurate observation, but thought the vessel was a three or four-master.

None of the life-saving patrol saw any sign of the supposed burning craft. As telephone lines on the island were put out of commission by the storm, communication with the southern section nearest the vessel was impossible.

JURY DYNAMITE CASE STILL OUT

Judge Adjourns Court Until 9:30 This Morning When Receives Report

Verdict Expected Today

Cash Ballot of 1,040 Charges. Defendants Spend Day in State Excitement

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 27.—Fifteen hours' deliberation by the jury in the "dynamite conspiracy" case up to tonight had failed to result in the return of any verdict.

Federal Judge Anderson, after convening court to receive any reports from the jurors, ordered an adjournment until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, with the understanding that the verdicts should be returned until that time.

While government officials expressed confidence that the jury would report a verdict, attorneys for the defense stated it may require a longer time. Twenty-six offenses are charged against each of the defendants, and the jury, if it chooses, may ballot on each charge as to each defendant, making a total of 1,040 charges thus to be disposed of.

Guard Approach to Jury.

All the deliberations of the jurors are conducted in a room near their living quarters, on the third floor of the federal building, which is reached by a private staircase, cut off from the rest of the building. On the same floor, at another end of the building, are the quarters of the confessed dynamiters—Orville McManis and Edward Clark—who appeared as witnesses for the government. That there may be no basis for reports as to the jury's progress, every approach leading to their quarters is guarded.

Twice today the labor officials, headed by Frank M. Roth, president of the Iron workers' union, who are charged with conspiracy in the McManis dynamite plot to destroy the property of "open shop" contractors, were assembled in the court room in expectation that their fate would be made known. A crowd of women and other spectators, who had been permitted to enter at 10 in the lobby for the last three months, were prevented by guards from approaching the court room, so that only those who had business in connection with the trial, or were relatives of the defendants, were present. These included the wives and children of about 30 of the men on trial.

Court Sessions Brief.

The court sessions were brief. At 9:30 a. m. the defendants occupied their accustomed three rows of seats behind the lawyers' table. Four defendants were brought in as prisoners from the county jail. These were Edward Smythe and James E. Ray, Morris, Herbert S. Hocking, accused as "the king of the conspiracy," and John T. Butler, Buffalo, vice president of the iron workers union, all of whom were taken in custody because their bonds were set aside. Smythe and

"BOOK TRUST" NEXT ON GRILL PROGRAM

Government Will Determine Whether Sherman Law Being Violated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The final fight against the so-called "book trust" opened today in the supreme court, when a printed argument was filed asking for an injunction against the carrying into effect agreements between publishers and book sellers, alleged to control the supply and sale of books.

The injunction is sought by R. H. Macy & Co., a New York department store firm. Those sought to be enjoined are the American Publishers Association, a New York corporation, said to be composed of publishers of about 75 per cent of the books of the country; many of its members and the American Book Sellers association, an unincorporated association, said to be composed of a large majority of the book sellers throughout the United States.

WELCOMED BACK TO NATIVE TOWN

GOVERNOR WILSON GETS GREAT RECEPTION

Observes Fifty-sixth Birthday Today in House Where He Was Born

STANTON, Va., Dec. 27.—Virginia welcomed home tonight Governor Woodrow Wilson, the eighth of the native sons to be chosen president of the United States. From the moment the president-elect entered the state line at Alexandria, in the afternoon, after he had been elected to the office of the national capital, until 5 o'clock when he reached the little farmhouse where he was born just 56 years ago tomorrow, the reception given him was one of the most enthusiastic, noisy demonstrations and spontaneous displays.

Escorted by a company of militia, companies and a torchlight procession the governor and Mrs. Wilson motored through the streets of Stanton to the home of Dr. A. N. Boyer, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

In this home Rev. Joseph B. Wilson, father of the president-elect, lived in 1856.

The first to be with him again, as he claimed, the president-elect, as he stepped indoors.

Visits Room Where Born.

Suffering still from the effects of his cold, he retired to the room where he was born to rest for the night, when the chief program of the public will be carried out.

From far and wide, native children of Stanton had come to greet their fellow townsman. Except for an informal visit a year ago, Mr. Wilson had not been back since he was 3 years old.

Stanton was not alone in celebrating the arrival in Virginia of the distinguished visitor. Bonfires blazed the way, fireworks shot across the skies and red lights threw a festive glare at all stations along the route. Mrs. Wilson stood with her husband on the rear platform of the train and enjoyed the demonstration.

Too Horse to Speak.

Senator Claude A. Sweeney of Virginia, Representative Charles C. Carlin and William A. Jones of this state, not a brand of Alexander, Mr. Wilson was unable to speak at any of the stops, owing to his cold, and having

DALTON, WYOMING BANDIT, CAPTURED

LAST OF MEN WHO LED JAIL BREAK

Chased All Night Through Snow by Sheriff and Surrenders

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 27.—Bart Dalton, bank robber, leader of the notorious "Whitney gang" that held western Wyoming in terror a year ago, and who engineered the sensational jail break of 19 convict from the Rawlins penitentiary, was captured today at Big Piney, Wyo. He was pursued through deep snow all night. Of the convicts who escaped from Rawlins penitentiary, October 12 last, only one now remains at liberty. The others have been either killed or captured.

Dalton was discovered camping in a little tent in the timber at Big Piney, by Sheriff Ward of Lincoln county, last night, but before the sheriff could close in on him, the convict fled, barefooted and half dressed.

Pursuit Lasts All Night.

All night the convict fled, with the sheriff close behind, guided only by the sound of the fugitive's breaking through the forest undergrowth.

About 3 o'clock this morning, exhausted, cold and hungry, Dalton gave himself up, ending the second break for liberty he had made in a year. Dalton was convicted of manslaughter for the killing of Peter Hansen, marshal of Colville, a year ago, and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

AUSTRIA FIRST DEMANDS EVACUATION OF DURAZZO

Turkey's Reply to Terms of Allies Will Be Submitted at Today's Session of Peace Conference in London

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Vienna says that the Austrian government will not withdraw a single soldier from the southern frontiers until the Servians evacuate Durazzo.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Turkey's reply to the demands made several days ago by the Balkan allies as a basis for peace in southeastern Europe, will be delivered tomorrow to the peace conference in St. James' palace.

Interest, however, again has shifted from this phase of the situation and is centered tonight in the question of what are the intentions of Austria with respect to the Balkans.

The peace delegates are prepared to wait, they say, for the Austrian reply to the terms of the allies, but they are not prepared to wait for the Austrian government and its counter proposals, which are expected to be submitted tomorrow. It is well known that Turkey has not the least hope of obtaining what she will demand and also that she has no intention of resuming war that may result in further disaster.

Tries to Divide Allies.

That this is the situation seems to receive confirmation from the fact that several attempts already have been made unofficially by members of the Turkish delegation to get the Montenegrin, Serbian and Greek delegates to precede from the demand that Austria should be surrendered, promising in return that Turkey will not object to their respective arrangements tomorrow. These advances and reports circulating from Constantinople that Balkan is negotiating terms direct

It is now considered certain that the resumption of the war against the representatives of Europe to make the territory of autonomous Albania as large as possible, including the districts of Dacia and Sauria.

Austria Tempts Montenegro.

Meanwhile, Austria is tempting Montenegro by promising in exchange of Austrian support the occupation of Scutari by Montenegro. That Austria be given possession of the mountainous, dominating Cattaro, which thus would become such an impregnable naval stronghold as to make the Vienna government the real master of the Adriatic.

But the power chiefs interested, oppose a scheme that gives her rival the coveted supremacy. On the sea, which once was considered a Venetian lake, Russia is anxious to prevent the Austrian project which is considered would stifle forever the Moslem fanaticism to obtain an outlet to the Adriatic.

Montenegro considers that the scheme would be fatal to her independence as Scutari is the key to the coast of the country, while the loss of the mountains above it would become a deadly blow of a strong foreign power. Austria would not permit this. Austria's hands are bound by the terms of the peace treaty, which is considered would stifle forever the Moslem fanaticism to obtain an outlet to the Adriatic.

The Serbians, however, are not so sure. They have only a partial view of the development of the situation, and Austria's interest is not so clear.

Overtures Condemned.

This point, the Serbians, though already conquered by the allies, has been taken from its independence by the will of Austria. The treaty, which is considered would stifle forever the Moslem fanaticism to obtain an outlet to the Adriatic, is considered would stifle forever the Moslem fanaticism to obtain an outlet to the Adriatic.

THREE DENVER ALDERMEN WANT TO CHANGE VOTES

DENVER, Dec. 27.—Three of the eight aldermen who voted against the proposed ordinance to lower the telephone rates in Denver and thereby defeated its passage, have asked for a reconsideration of the bill, declaring that they will change their vote. In that event it will insure the passage of the bill. Much public criticism has been heaped at the eight aldermen who voted against the bill, and the three who now want a reconsideration, declare they want to obey the voice of the people.

purporting to show that he was entitled to the relationship he claimed with the famous old German general. The count was highly educated and spoke several languages and when invited to talk told entertaining stories of his earlier life and college days in the Prussian army.

But the chief story of the country or perhaps imaginary, came from his native land was a novel and public. When questioned about this he became indignant and would bring the inter view to a close and when asked to say if it was a matter of fact he said it was a matter of fact in which he was a wanderer. He said he had nothing of the circumstances that made him a wanderer.

There were no details in the press except a last night as to how von Bulow was killed but it is supposed that he was beating his way on a passenger train as he had done many times before and fell between the wheels. His skull was fractured and both hands were broken.

MAN WOMAN HIRED TO KILL HUSBAND CONFESSES CRIME

MAISON Ga. Dec. 27.—Mrs. James King, widow of a Round Oak, Ga., planter who was killed near here recently confessed tonight that she plotted with Nicholas Wilburn a farmer to slay her husband so that she might marry Wilburn and get $2,000 life insurance.

MAISON Ga. Dec. 27.—Mrs. James King, widow of the owner of one of the largest plantations in middle Georgia was arrested today after Nicholas Wilburn a farm hand had confessed according to the police that he killed James King because Mrs. King promised him $800 and to marry him if he would do it.

King was shot December 12 while hunting. Investigation led to the arrest of Wilburn and a negro James Barber who, the police say has stated that Wilburn told him he was going to kill King. Mrs. King is 42 years old and Wilburn is 25.

In his confession today Wilburn is quoted as saying: "Mrs. King had offered me $600 to kill her husband. She said she wanted to get rid of him, and promised to marry me if I killed him. He had $2,000 life insurance."

On December 12 I was passing the King home. She called to me and told me that Mr. King had gone hunting, and for me to shoot him. I followed him and when he stopped to rest, I stepped up behind him grabbed him and shot him. He begged me not to shoot him any more. Just then he toppled over.

I put his gun in his hands and arranged the body so as to make it look like he had shot himself and then went back to the house and told Mrs. King what I had done. She said I was a good boy, and she thought a lot of me.

Mrs. King is the mother of six children. Her oldest daughter married a brother of Wilburn.

It has been in custody for almost two months. Butler was ordered imprisoned after he had testified in his own behalf that he knew nothing of any $1,000 a month appropriation out of the union funds to be used by John T. McNamara, the secretary for dynamite.

As a token that the trial had ended as far as testimony was concerned, bailiffs entered while the defendants were waiting and removed almost a ton of revolvers, guns, alarm clocks, pieces of exploded bombs, telegraph wire, carrying cases and articles shattered by dynamite, which the government had introduced as exhibits. Parts of the exhibits were weapons taken from the McNamara brothers and McManis at the time of their arrests.

Thirty-five minutes after convening Judge Anderson adjourned court until afternoon. The afternoon court reconvened only again to adjourn after a brief wait.

Ferry Steamer Sinks Launch. VALLEJO, Cal., Dec. 27.—The Southern Pacific ferry steamer El Capitán sank a launch of the gunboat Vicksburg in Vallejo channel today, and crewman Frederick Weiser was drowned. Three other men in the launch were rescued.

STARVATION WAGES CAUSE OF STRIKE IN NEW YORK MILLS

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y. Dec. 27.—Low wages which made it impossible for them to earn enough to live upon was the direct cause of the big strike in the textile mills here, according to the testimony today of a score of witnesses before members of the state board of arbitration. The strike has been in progress for months and has resulted in frequent outbreaks.

Men, women and girls who appeared as witnesses united in saying their only grievance related to wages.

All of the witnesses, who are members of the Industrial Workers of the World, were born in Europe, and have been in this country from one to 10 years. Most of them were examined through interpreters. They were given wide ranges in testifying, but their stories varied little except as to the amount of pay they had received.

$11 Week Maximum Wage.

Practically all the witnesses were piece hands. None of them received more than $11 a week. When the law limiting their work to 84 hours went into effect they testified that wages fell as low as $7, and $6 a week, and even lower in some cases.

Their demands, which they said led to the strike, were that they should receive 60 hours pay for 54 hours' work and a 15 per cent increase for piece work.

Several night workers testified that they worked 13 hours with half an hour off for lunch and received $10 and $11 a week.

Conditions Alarming.

Tina Oehl, 18, worked from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. on piece work. She said she was not compelled to work that number of hours, but did it to make more money. She took five minutes for lunch at noon, although permitted to take an hour. Working thus she made $6 to $6.50 a week.

Ashillo Strambo, aged 18, was one of the typical spinners sworn. She said that before the 84-hour law went into effect she made $7.50 a week and afterward but $6.75.

Giuseppe Gismondini said that when work was slack he made only $3 or $4 a week. When the mill was running well he made as high as $10 a week.

Frances Kazimirzka, 23, said she made $6 a week, and that she went on strike when ordered to increase her work from 60 to 70 dozen underwear a day.

AUSTRIA FIRST DEMANDS

Servia instead a commercial port, the only guarantee of which are illusory. "If official Albania should be dominated by Austria a policy of chicanery could be inaugurated and cause all imaginable difficulties to Servian commerce. Italian support would be only theoretical, as Italy never would fight Austria to guarantee Servia a neutral port."

"The question of a port is trifling if placed by itself, but behind it is the question whether the Balkans are to be enslaved to the triple alliance or manipulated. The emancipation of the Balkans achieved by splendid victories of the allies, threatens to be lost through ineliminable weakness of the triple entente."

The triple entente urges peace at any cost, even yielding on the frontiers of Albania. It is proposed to turn Servia out of Durazzo because she occupied it and to deprive Montenegro of Scutari because she did not take it.

"Nobody proposes to enlarge over the southern territories which the Greeks have not conquered or to deprive Bulgaria of such of the fruits of her victory. "Only Servia and Montenegro are to be sacrificed in order to allow Austria permanent intervention in the Balkans and prevent a final settlement of the status of the peninsula."

"The Austrian declares he desires no territorial aggrandizement, but through his mobilization he prevents a solution of the Balkan problem and imposes the formation of Albania into territories which Austria will seize at the first opportunity. German policy will be definitely substituted in the orient for the Balkan Slav equilibrium if the triple entente makes this last abdication before the triple alliance. The Balkan Slavs realize that even a victorious war can gain for them conditions necessary to their political, moral and economic development, and find that their safety lies in a close understanding with Austria."

"This would cause a great transformation in the status of the orient, as Germany and Austria, freed from the nightmare of a great Servian state, would dominate the Balkans unopposed, having in their hands the markets and a route to India. If the triple entente desires this they had better say so frankly."

Reports received from Constantinople stating that the military officers had been ordered to the Tchatalia lines caused a ripple of excitement here today. The explanation given is that they were sent back because the soldiers had grown mutinous, saying the officers were enjoying the advances in the capital while they were enduring hardships in the trenches.

Then it was decided to return to the inn for the night and the commissary car took them back.

'PILGRIMS' FINISH LONG HIKE TODAY

NIVERVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 27.—After a 14-mile walk from Stockport in a driving snow storm, "General" Rosalie Jones and her marching outriggers who are bearing a message to Governor-elect Sulzer, decided to push on in the dark this evening for another three miles from Pine Tree Inn to Niverville. Then it was decided to return to the inn for the night and the commissary car took them back.

In the morning they will be driven to Niverville and from there will take up their walk again, hoping to cover the remaining 12 miles into Albany by early afternoon. The weather was trying to the five marching pilgrims today, changing this morning from rain to a heavy snow.

The roads for many miles were a foot deep with slush and snow. The pilgrims stopped for luncheon at Kin-derhook. While there, "General" Jones announced that the army would finish its march into Albany Saturday.

Fifty women enthusiasts with a brass band will meet the tired little army tomorrow at East Greenbush and escort them the remaining three miles into Albany. Sunday will be spent in resting and it is probable an audience with Governor-elect Sulzer will be obtained Monday.

The pilgrims plan to attend the inauguration ball New Year's eve.

FEWER CATTLE SEND BEEF PRICES SOARING

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Fewer cattle by 281,238 have been received at the Chicago stock yards this year than in 1911, according to figures given out tonight.

Despite this fact, more money was paid for beef during 1912 than in 1911 by $3,282,736. The total paid out this year was $183,488,909.

Three reasons are given for the increased price of beef. The western states did not raise as many cattle as usual because of droughts, many farmers are turning their pastures into wheat fields, and the demand for beef has increased. It was explained that the population in the United States has increased in the last 20 years 20 per cent while the increase in cattle production has been only 4 per cent.

Beef exports fell off this year because of the big home demand. In 1911 there were 47,000 cattle exported from the Chicago yards, compared with 23,000 this year.

LEADVILLE MERCHANT IS ROBBED OF $935 IN DENVER

DENVER, Dec. 27.—"Good evening, my friend," was the polite remark addressed to A. Walpensky, wealthy merchant and minor of Leadville, and caused him to drop his glance into the barrel of a large-caliber revolver, as he passed the Denver club tonight.

Walpensky started to remonstrate with the man who had so kindly held him up, and was instantly seized from behind. The first man then placed a gag in their victim's mouth and the two proceeded to deprive him of his wallet in which was $935 in bank notes.

When the two men left him Walpensky hurried to the corner drug store had the gag removed and notified the police.

HER HUSBAND'S WIFE AT THE BURNS THIS WEEK

This is a play that does not depend for its success upon scenery or stage settings. It is a play that is made much more enjoyable to the audience by having the play given with hard-making surroundings.

After the 25 examples which the public has had of the ability of the Burns in staging, it goes without saying that the one which this play calls for will be given the closest attention, and while it is sure to be a striking scene the artist's points being brought out, this will be done in a manner which will not detract from the dramatic part of the entertainment.

Come tonight and hear Pinkie's large orchestra and special music. These acts and good laughs.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—Believing that the fire which destroyed a rooming-house on North Main street, last night, with the loss of two lives, was of incendiary origin, the police are searching tonight for a man who, they assert, had made a previous attempt to burn the building. His arrest is expected.

Leonard and Leopold Walters, 18 and 14 years old, sons of the rooming house proprietor, were victims of the fire. Their sister, Olga Walters, jumped from a third story window, but escaped serious injury.

Several persons were injured while negotiating the twisted staircase of a building to escape the fire. A H. M. of an electric company, fell through a burning floor in the basement but will recover.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—A boat load of $350,000 for road improvement in El Paso county, carried. An especially heavy rain was met by taxpayers in the rural districts. The funds will be used to continue the Camino Real, which already follows the old Santa Fe trail from Santa Fe, N. M., to El Paso, Tex. It is now being improved by convict labor through west Texas and into Arizona to the west. It is asserted that the bonds will make a reduction of 3 cents on the $100 valuation of the county tax rate, by doing way with heavy road tax.

Colorado Springs People Give Credit Where Credit Is Due

People of Colorado Springs who suffer with weak kidneys, and had backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing testimony of Colorado Springs people in a case:

J. W. Riley, 604 N. Sprague St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I was bothered for many years by kidney trouble. I had backaches and sharp pains through my kidneys and hips. Finally I had headaches and the kidney secretions were profuse, especially at night. I used remedies and physicians' prescriptions, but I never got relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at the J. F. Butcher Drug Co. One box cured the attack, and since then I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I have had any sign of kidney complaint. They are a light."

THE SECRET TERROR.
The haunting fear of sickness and helplessness of the secret terror of the working man. Health is his capital. Kidney diseases sap a man's strength and vitality. They lessen his earning capacity. Kidney pills bring back health and strength by healing the disease. They are the best medicine made for kidney and bladder troubles. They get rid quickly and thoroughly. You can buy nothing better. John McMaisters, Streator, Ill., says: "I feel better and a great deal stronger than I have for many years, and Foley's Kidney Pills did it." (Adv.)

forbade unnecessary exposure. Senator Swanson explained this to the crowd at Chillicothe, and Governor Wilson raised his hat to acknowledge their cheers.

The governor did not respond to any of the many cries today for a speech. The crowds were good natured and did not insist.

"I must say they are very generous in taking the thing as they do," he said to National Chairman McCormick, who stood beside him on the platform. "I was at Kansas that the first of the series of houses along the route cracked a welcome. The governor peered from his stateroom at the fires along the way."

"Is it Fourth of July?"
"Is it the Fourth of July?" he queried, as cannon roared and sky-rockets gleamed at Orange. Another display of fireworks came at Gordonsville, but the biggest crowd of all pressed around the train at Charlottesville, where Governor and Mrs. Mann and a delegation from Richmond joined the party.

Harry Smith, Jr., and Speaker R. B. Bird of the house of delegates, both of them citizens of Charlottesville, were at the University of Virginia law school, greeted the president-elect here. He thanked them warmly for their efforts in his behalf in the pre-convention campaign.

Joseph E. Willard, former lieutenant governor of Virginia, had his private car attached at Charlottesville, and the party of former Virginians was increased to nearly 100 by the time of arrival at Staunton.

Woman's Greatest Trouble
Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Campbell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weaknesses for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth." Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles. (Adv.)

COL. ROOSEVELT ON WORK OF HISTORIAN

Chronicler of Future Will Record Lives of People, He Says

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, speaking on "History of Literature," in Symphony hall tonight, addressed members of six national associations now holding conventions here. He is president of one of these societies, the American Historical Association.

The other organizations are the American Association for Labor Legislation, the American Sociological Society, the American Statistical Association, the American Economic Association and the American Political Science Association.

Colonel Roosevelt discussed the art of the historian from the viewpoint of science, poetry, mythology and literature.

History Welcomes Science.

He argued that history should welcome the entrance of its domain of every science, and that future historians should make use of material from every possible source to convey vivid and lifelike pictures of the past.

The great historian of the future, he said, would be the man who had the genius to reconstruct for his readers the immense panorama of the past. He must possess knowledge and wisdom. He must use his material with such potent vividness that "we shall see the life that was, and not the death that is. Whether it be Egypt or Mesopotamia or Scandinavia with which he deals, the great historian, if the facts permit him, will put before us the men and women as they actually lived, so that we shall recognize them for what they were, living beings."

Detain Castro at Ellis Island Like Other Foreigners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Curtis Castro, ex-president of Venezuela, said to be on board the steamer La Touraine, due at New York from Havre Sunday, will be detained at the Ellis Island immigration station until Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor has passed upon his admission to the United States.

Mr. Nagel today instructed Commissioner of Immigration Williams, at New York, to subject Castro to a rigid inspection under the immigration laws to determine his right to enter, and to forward the result to Washington. This unusual course is due to the fact that the state department has requested Secretary Nagel strictly to apply the immigration laws to the ex-president. The department is searching for evidence which would bar Castro. The state department today received a report from Venezuela concerning the status of the deposed president. This was not made public.

Man Is Fined $25 for Spitting on a Bible in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 27.—Judge Neelen, in the district court today, fined Martin Premak $25 because he spat on a Bible.

Premak was brought before the court by Miss Mazwicka, who charged assault and battery. Mazwicka said that Premak pushed him, and that he did not mind that; that he was angered over another insult, and he produced a book before the court.

"The book was a Bible, and Mazwicka opened it in court.

"Your honor," said Mazwicka, "he spat upon this book. I brought it with me from the old country. This man came into my house, drunk and abusive, and when I remonstrated with him, and told him what this book contained, he spat upon it as it lay upon the table and spat upon its pages."

"Did you do that?" Judge Neelen asked Premak.

The man shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, yes," he said, "I did do that, but it harmed no one. You can see that he wiped it dry again."

"You are fined $25 and costs," Judge Neelen told him. "I wish that I could send you to jail for about 30 days. It would serve you right."

POPULATION OF TOWN IN N.S.W. MASSACRED WEAVE STRONG CHAIN OF EVIDENCE ABOUT SUSPECT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 27.—That John Hartnett, alias James Neely, alias Kyle, an alleged convicted bank burglar, who was arrested by the Springfield police last Wednesday, is one of the two men who held up the Alton "Hummer" at Des Junction last Tuesday night, was said to be practically conclusive tonight by the local police and W. S. Cain, chief of detectives for the Chicago & Alton railroad.

Evidence gathered today is said to establish that Hartnett is a familiar figure in Springfield; that his visits to Springfield have been especially frequent since last July; that he was the proprietor of a saloon in Chicago for a short period in 1909, and that he has served a sentence in the Kentucky penitentiary.

Hartnett is said to have robbed a bank at Hartford, Ky., January 22, 1902.

EVERYBODY HELP!

COLORADO COLLEGE must have that entire $300,000 endowment. And it is all dependent upon the securing, within the next four days, of $10,000 right here in Colorado Springs.

The men and women of this city have, in the past, loyally supported the college. Their support has been rewarded in the steady growth of the college. Between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast there is no privately-endowed college that compares with it.

But Colorado college must not be satisfied with what has been attained. Neither must the people of Colorado Springs. There is no reason why Colorado college, located in the most beautiful city of the west, with a perfect climate, with surroundings of the best, should not become one of the great educational institutions of America.

A few years ago a great step forward was taken when the half million dollar endowment fund was completed. Another great step is now to be taken. The completion of the $300,000 fund will bring the college's endowment above the million mark, and will add to its equipment one of the most splendid gymnasiums in the west.

Ten thousand dollars is, in one sense, a great deal of money to ask from the people of Colorado Springs at this time. In another sense it is but a little. For every dollar contributed to the college goes directly to the upbuilding of Colorado Springs and to its upbuilding in the most solid and substantial fashion.

If everybody helps and everybody should help, the $10,000 will be secured without great difficulty. And the people of Colorado Springs will have pushed their college forward another long distance.

A JOKER

DID those business men who signed the petition of the American Railway association, asking that the railroads be allowed to raise their rates, realize what they were doing? There is a cleverly concealed joker in the petition. It is this: "Provided that, in all adjustments of rates, adequate revenue shall be insured them (the railroads) to meet existing obligations."

This is the very crux of the rate-making problem. The interstate commerce commission claims that rates should not meet "existing obligations," provided those existing obligations are in part watered stocks. The commission claims that rates should merely allow a reasonable return on the actual investment, not on millions of capitalized profits.

The railroads, of course, want permission to make their rates high enough to cover any amount of water they may see fit to pour into their capital. Their plan would place absolutely no limit on rates. And it is this plan of raising rates in order to pay interest on watered stocks that the business men who have signed the American Railway association's petition have endorsed. Did they know what they were doing?

TO COMPEL COMPETITION

THE indictment of officials of the New Haven and Grand Trunk systems marks the carrying of the Sherman law to its nth degree. In this latest suit attempt is being made to force the building of a railroad for the purpose of securing competition with a line already existing.

The idea that there is some inherent virtue in competition, some cure for all economic ills, is one that dies hard. Competition is, supposedly, in effect between all railroads today. But what real competition is there? As a matter of fact, while it may be there is some competition between various roads in the matter of service furnished, there has been no competition in the matter of rates for many years.

It is true, furthermore, that it is only since competition perished, since the rate-making power of the railroads was virtually turned over to the interstate commerce commission, that the modern development of the roads in the matter of equipment and roadbed took place. In the days of cut-throat competition there wasn't stability enough in the railroad business to permit of the appropriation of the vast sums necessary to develop American railroads from the crude contraptions they were when first built into the splendid highways most of the larger roads have become in the last decade or two.

Whether the court orders the Grand Trunk to complete the construction of the line abandoned months ago or not cannot be predicted. It is quite safe to say, however, that, even if this line to Providence is completed, there will be mighty little change in the New England railroad situation. The Grand Trunk and New Haven will speedily reach an agreement as to rates, and New England will be no better off than it is now.

If the interstate commerce commission, after it had been granted the enlarged powers for which it has asked congress, cannot control the situation in New England then there is but one further step to take government ownership. It is noticeable that the sentiment in this conservative section of the country in favor of this drastic step has increased fast in recent years. Certainly public sentiment cannot much longer endure the intolerable conditions imposed upon traffic in the five states where the New Haven system has an absolute monopoly of the railroad situation, and where it has so outrageously neglected to provide adequately for the needs of shippers and passengers.

THEY HESITATE

CORRESPONDENTS of the Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia North American and Boston Transcript united in polling members of congress on the question whether the United States constitution should be revised. Only 10 members of the senate and house replied that, in their opinion, revision is needed. But the surprising fact about the poll was that only 17 declared in positive terms against revision. All others refused to answer.

The result shows conclusively that members of congress are in doubt on the subject. And that in itself is the strongest testimony to the growth of the idea that the constitution must be changed to meet changing conditions. Even 10 years ago 75 per cent of the membership of congress would have answered unhesitatingly that of course the constitution did not need revising; for was it not a perfect document, for all time?

MAY MEAN CHEAPER FOOD

PERHAPS nothing has done so much to protect small wholesalers and retailers in the grocery business from the competition of big concerns, as the almost universal system adopted by food manufacturers of fixing both the wholesale and retail selling prices of their products. That system has just been attacked, as a violation of the antitrust law, by the United States in the suit filed against the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company.

If the government wins its suit the prices of such foods and they include almost all of the advertised foods are almost certain to drop. Small wholesalers and small retailers both would probably suffer, but the consumer would probably be far more benefited than by any revision of the tariff.

BEGGING AGAIN

UNDAUNTED by the failure of her scheme to have the Moffat tunnel built by the entire state, Denver now plans to secure state assistance in developing the chain of mountain parks she has determined to establish. Denver is always begging. Colorado Springs has the finest mountain park system in the world and didn't ask the rest of the state for a cent for its development. Isn't Denver as able financially to develop a park system as is Colorado Springs?

WANTS SUNDAY FUNERALS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 We read in The Gazette yesterday that there will be no more funerals in Colorado Springs on Sunday. Is it true?

It is so that two or three religious fanatics are to decide on what day of the week the 30,000 inhabitants of Colorado Springs can bury their dead?

This comes as a great shock to the city and will keep more people away from here than any other thing that could be said about the city. I hope the women voters of Colorado Springs will make a note of the names of the councilmen who vote to take away the right of people to bury their dead on Sunday if they want to.

The council's business is to attend to the city's business, and the people should have the privilege of burying their dead on any day they choose. This question touches the hearts of us women who have old parents who have requested us that, if possible, they be buried on Sunday.

There is a feeling in all hearts that there is a holiness, a religious sentiment, in laying away our dead on Sunday. This reverence is felt everywhere. Already inquiries are coming from the other states: "Is it true that you have laws in Colorado Springs that govern the burying of your dead?"

Can Colorado Springs afford to be influenced by fanatics who earn every dollar they have on Sunday?

TWEET! TWEET!

From the St. Edward (Neb.) Sun.
 As the years roll themselves into records of the past, bringing with them anniversaries of the happy event which this joyous occasion celebrates, may each anniversary strengthen the joys that existed, the peace and good will of happy bridegroom and bride, and may the years that were centered in the home on the hillside this Christmas night, where pure and sacred love reigned bright and undimmed as the holy light of the twinkling stars and glistened in moonlight, which shone down so benignant upon the merry scene—silent testimonies of that highest, holiest love which envelops all.

THE INTOXICATED REPORTER.

From the Houston Chronicle.
 As one entered the home the attention was immediately attracted by the artistic arrangement of floral decoration on the stair landing, which the caller directly faced. High the towering poinsettias with the beautiful foliage plants, and a group of exceeding loveliness. Basting little being induced thereby to make even more effective their own beauty and that of the contrasting floral hues. From above floated strains of lovely music, this being rendered by Messrs. Blitz and Saff, with Mr. Patricia Gutierrez at the piano. Upon the foliage of the landing fell a soft glow of light diffused from an electric fan of rich oriental colorings, with jeweled pendants.

What Nobody Wants to Do

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Thinking is just what nobody wants to do," said Arnold Bennett once on a time. And to my mind he certainly struck 12 with that sentiment if he ever did.

How few people really do think about the little matters of everyday life!

Last summer I frequently had occasion to make a short trip, during which I changed from one train to another. The second train always stood on a siding waiting for the passengers. There was usually a large crowd so that all could not get seats.

On leaving the first train this crowd divided itself into two groups—the mob of those who were not in the habit of thinking about little things, and those few who were. The first group rushed over to the train, jumped on the nearest car and scrambled for seats. The second class walked rapidly along the outside of the train to the front cars where there was no crowd, then leisurely selected comfortable seats. By the time the overflow of the first group had managed to make a difficult way down the crowded aisles of the cars, the second class, fully tenanted by the people who were in the habit of taking thought about the little matters of everyday life.

Occasionally I used to look about at the faces of the people in the front part, and almost without exception they were intelligent faces, thoughtful faces, the faces of men and women who were undoubtedly making their way in the world because they had learned to do something besides follow the leader in the game of life.

There is a best way to do every little thing, whether it be washing dishes, trying to get a seat in the train, or writing a letter.

There is also a routine way of doing every little thing.

Occasionally these two ways are one; more often they are not.

And the successful men and women are those who rise their thinking machines in deciding whether the routine way is the best way, and do not accept it unless it is.

It is easy to do things in the routine way. It requires effort to think.

That is why thinking is just what nobody wants to do—at first, at least. After you have made the effort a little while, like all good habits, it ceases to be an effort.

The men and women who get the habit of thinking about little things are the men and women who can think to some purpose about bigger things. In business they are the people whose salaries rise as inevitably as the rivers in spring. In the home they are the folks who astonish their neighbors because they accomplish so much so easily.

Do you think? Not just when you are up against it, and have to put your rusty machinery into mechanical motion, but every day, every minute, about every thing.

It pays.

HOPE

By GEORGE FITCH.
 Author of "At Good-Old Blwash"

Hope is a beautiful and romantic fever with which most men are plentifully supplied.
 Hope springs eternal in the human breast and runs without meter rates or stop clocks. It is the cheapest thing in the world and the most useful and also the most unprofitable of human qualities.

Hope keeps a man working after all his friends declare that his business can never pull through.

Hope made Cyrus Field a regular nuisance about the Atlantic cable un-

"Hope accounts for the great sale of cantaloupes" til it was finally laid after four failures.

Hope keeps an old maid agreeable, a wife patient and a husband extravagant.

Hope sustains fainting sailors on desert islands and keeps the grand stand filled after the home team is nine runs behind.

Hope accounts for the great sale of cantaloupes and the phenomenal increase in gold mines.

Hope heads off many divorces but produces just as many.

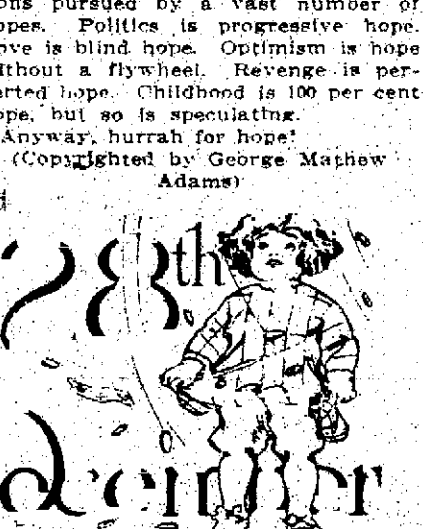

Hope makes perpetual political candidates. It also sustains the people while they are electing aldermen, legislators and congressmen.

Hope has made crushed nations rise and aviators fall, crushed, to earth. It is the chief sustenance of inventors and the main composition of fishermen. It makes sick rooms endurable, glorifies birth and softens death. But it also keeps a young man at the gambling table long after he has emptied his pockets and disposed of his shoes for a mere song.

We could not survive without hope and we can scarcely survive hope itself. Without hope men would revolt at poverty and give up the struggle. But without hope men would be content with comfort and stop waiting stock. Society consists of a few positions pursued by a vast number of hopes. Politics is progressive hope. Love is blind hope. Optimism is hope without a flywheel. Revenge is perverted hope. Childhood is 100 per cent hope, but so is speculation.

Anyway, hurrah for hope!

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Rejoice, for fortune favors you, and blessings will fall on your pathway. Some cause in which you are interested will gain favor and advance materially.

Those born today will have high ambitions and the ability to realize them. They will be helped by some of their relatives and hindered by others. Fits of deep depression will sometimes seize them and they will need the influence of someone who can encourage them at these times.

COSTIGAN AND PARKS WILL CONTEST FOR SECOND PLACE

DENVER, Dec. 27.—With the convening of the state legislature next Wednesday, the contest between C. C. Parks, Republican, and E. P. Costigan, Progressive, for second place in the gubernatorial race will probably be revived. The first duty of the legislature will be to canvass the vote for elective state officers. The position of second is considered important as it gives representation in the way of judges and clerks at the next election.

FORMER FRISCO MAYOR CRACKS RIB LAUGHING

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—Don't make me laugh, my ribs crack. That's the warning P. H. McCarthy, president of the State Building Trades council and former mayor of San Francisco, is giving these days to those friends. While playing Santa Claus at his home McCarthy fell to laughing until he cracked and began to cough. He is a big man and the fit of coughing became so violent that it led to a muscular paroxysm in which he fractured a rib.

PROTESTS INNOCENCE OF MURDER UNTIL LAST

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Dec. 27.—Protesting his innocence until the last and wishing all the newspapers a happy New Year, John S. Rogers was hanged today for the murder of Benjamin Goodman, a San Francisco jewelry salesman, November 21, 1911. Rogers killed Goodman with a hatchet, robbed the body of jewelry worth $2,500, hid the body in the cellar of the building where he was employed and worked not 10 feet from it for three days.

HARDY'S

16 N. Tejon

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 28, 1892.

Colorado Springs post No. 22, Grand Army of the Republic, was instituted by General E. K. Stimson, G. A. R. commander of Colorado. L. E. Sherman was the first post commander.

The Santa Fe railroad reduced its passenger rates in New Mexico to six cents a mile.

William Lennox was confined to his home from injuries received by a kick from a horse. Mr. Lennox was at that time in the coal business.

Word was received here of the recent marriage of Fred A. Sperry of this city to Miss Fannie E. Kerr of Tallmadge, Ohio.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 28, 1892.

There was a crowd of children in front of Robinson's drug store all day watching the antics of a monkey in the window.

Miller Brothers sold their drug business on South Tejon street to Tamm & Arcularius of Leadville. This is the business now conducted by Hefley & Arcularius.

Mrs. Whitbeck gave a reception to her juvenile dancing classes in Durkee hall.

The postoffice business had increased so that it became necessary to lease another room in the Robertson block on the corner of Huerfano and Tejon where the postoffice was then located.

THE HASKIN LETTER

IMMIGRATION

XIX THE FOREIGNER'S LARGE FAMILY

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Must has been written in recent years about race suicide, but most of it with only superficial facts at hand upon which to base conclusions. Next to nothing was known of the conditions which produce it, of its relative extent in urban and rural life, and of its existence among different nationalities of people. Fortunately, when the twelfth census was taken, data was gathered as to the number of years wives had been married and the number of children they had borne. But these figures were never tabulated by the census authorities with a view to showing the bearing immigration has upon the tendency of the American people toward a lower birth rate. That task was undertaken by the immigration commission with data taken from the state of Rhode Island, some representing a compactly populated state of the old east where nearly all the people are urban dwellers; from the city of Cleveland as being a typical American city; from the rural counties of Ohio representing typical rural conditions among the native population; from the city of Minneapolis representing the old immigration under urban conditions; from the rural districts of Minnesota as typical of the north-west.

The results of these tabulations demonstrate beyond question that if America is to continue to grow and wax more powerful it will have to look to the country districts and to the immigrants for the supply of children who will make this growth possible. The story told by the figures is one of very small families among the native population who live under urban conditions. As a matter of fact, such families scarcely have enough children to replace themselves. It is probable that out of every three children born not more than two grow to adult estate and have children of their own. In fact, the probability is that this statement is for on the side of conservatism, and shows the fact that out of 100,000 children born, about 40,000 die before they reach the age of 24. And when it is further considered that out of every 100 marriages in the country about seven are childless, it will appear very conservative to say that the family which does not have three children stands little show of directly adding to the permanent population of the country.

Larger Rural Families.

And yet the investigations of the immigration commission disclose the fact that the average American wife whose parents are both native-born Americans, and who lives in the city, has only 2.4 children. Her sister in the rural districts has 3.4 children, or one more child than her city sister. To put it another way, where city women of native parentage have 2.4 children their country sisters have 3.4.

But although the country women of native parentage have one more child than the city family, the city woman's family is larger. The average native woman in the city has 2.4 children, her country sister has 3.4. In the city, the average native woman has 2.4 children, her country sister has 3.4. In the city, the average native woman has 2.4 children, her country sister has 3.4. In the city, the average native woman has 2.4 children, her country sister has 3.4.

Are Affected Alike in Cities.

No matter among what class of what nationality of women the investigation leads, the uniform lesson it teaches is that urban conditions tend to restrict the size of families. They affect the woman of native parentage as much as all then the women of native birth but immigrant parentage, and least of all the immigrant woman herself.

Not only do city conditions tend to cut down the size of the average family, but they tend to produce a large number of childless marriages. For instance, in Rhode Island, one married woman in 100 has no children, and whose parents were both native-born Americans. In Cleveland, the ratio is about one out of seven, and in Minneapolis it is about one out of eight. On the other hand, the women of native parentage in the rural districts of Ohio and Minnesota show only one marriage out of 20 without children.

Here again the immigrant woman exceeds her daughters and the daughters of native American parents. In Rhode Island only one married immigrant woman in 10 has no children, in Cleveland one in 13, in Minneapolis one in 16, and in the rural districts it is about one in 20. And here again the daughters of the immigrant fall between their mothers and the women of native American parentage.

Average Age Different.

It is also interesting to note how much less is the average difference of the ages of the children of immigrant parents than of native American parents. The native American woman of native parentage has had a child for every five years and four months of her married life, while the immigrant woman has had one for every three years and has been married. Here, again the native-parentage, city-living wife shows the greatest tendency to race suicide, while her country-birthed sister, though not receiving as frequent visits from the stork as the immigrant woman and her daughter, does have more children than her sister in the city.

IMMIGRATION
XIX—THE FOREIGNER'S LARGE FAMILY
By Frederic J. Haskin.

A careful study of the figures presented by the immigration commission, taken in conjunction with the statistics of birth and death rates available in the United States, indicates that if America were dependent for her future population upon the American woman who lives in the city and whose parents are native born, there would be a decline in population from decade to decade.

It also indicates that if immigration should cease and the birth rate of all American women of native parentage should be continued, we would just a little more than hold our own in population. On the other hand, with the large number of immigrant women coming to America and the partiality of the stork for their homes and the homes of their daughters, it seems certain that the country will continue to expand in population from decade to decade.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Bradstreet's will say tomorrow:

"What is described in most sections of the country as a record holiday trade has crowned a year which has had few equals and fewer superiors in nearly every line of human endeavor. This, of course, refers directly to volume of product or value of output, rather than to margins of profit, which are conceded to have been cut in many lines.

Best reports as to holiday and retail trade came from the west, northwest, most parts of the southwest, and the Pacific coast. In the eastern states trade has been good, and there are many large centers reporting the year-end trade as breaking all records. Less buoyant advices came from the southeast of the Mississippi, but here shorter yields are held mainly responsible. In wholesale trade and industry there has been a quieter tone.

As the year closes the feeling is one of cheerful conservatism, but not of pessimism, because of the fact that three to seven-month orders are in hand.

The end of the year finds the labor situation quiet as a whole, after a year notable for some big strikes and for many and widespread wage advances.

Holiday dullness prevails in the New York stock market, the renewed firmness of money due to end of the year requirements also checking speculative activity. A somewhat improved sentiment is displayed, however.

Business failures for the week ending December 26 were 253, against 322 last week and 304 in the like week of 1911. Failures in Canada for the week were 19 in number.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending December 26, aggregate 4,960,686 bushels, against 6,697,540 last week and 2,855,330 this week last year.

Corn exports are 262,356 bushels, against 126,585 last week, and 1,233,735 bushels in 1911.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:

The notable development at the close of the year is the tremendous expansion in exports, which are breaking previous records, the movement from the port of New York for the last week amounting to $25,215,000—$4,138,000 larger than in 1911. There is some slowing down of domestic operations in the closing weeks of the year, as is usual, yet the current statistics of business continue almost as noteworthy as those of foreign commerce. Bank clearings (about the best measure of activity available) increased this week 11.9 per cent, as compared with 1911, and railroad gross earnings for the first half of December gained 5.8 per cent.

Retail holiday trade was of imposing proportions, and this had a favorable effect on wholesale trade and on industrial lines. In the iron and steel trade the chief feature is the continued heavy purchases by the railroads. There are shorter holiday suspensions of work this year than is usual, owing to the insistence of demand. The grain and cotton markets show continued large domestic movement and exports. Interest in the financial markets is still keen as to the result of the Balkan peace negotiations in London, but a holiday quietness generally prevails.

SANTA FE TO SPEND $2,000,000 IN DENVER

DENVER, Dec. 27.—The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad has completed the purchase of land in Denver, valued at $200,000 to be used in establishing its own terminals in Denver, according to information given out today. It is also proposed to spend $2,000,000 in 1913 in constructing tracks and freight houses in Denver's business district and in South Denver and Englewood, a suburb.

A corps of engineers has been working for several months, completing plans for construction work. The improvements are said to be in connection with the railroad's program for betterments for handling the increased business that is expected upon the completion of the Panama canal.

GENERAL HUERTA, MEXICAN ARMY, IS NOW RETIRED

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, the hero of the campaign against Gen. Pascual Orozco, the rebel leader, was retired today by the federal war department from the command of the northern division of the army.

General Huerta has been in Mexico city for several weeks and it is stated that he has been undergoing treatment for an affection of the eyes. It is officially declared that General Huerta asked to be relieved of his command.
He has been offered an advisory position in the war department. General Antonio Rabasa has been named to command the northern division in succession to General Huerta.

Switzerland is building a new railroad 18.5 per cent of the line of which will be through tunnels and 8 per cent over bridges.

KING GEORGE TO CONFER ROYAL HONORS NEW YEARS

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The honors to be conferred by King George on New Years day have given rise to some interesting rumors.
The vacancy roll of the Order of Merit naturally creates the most speculation. The name of Mrs. Hunphry Ward, the writer, has been mentioned, but it is likely while she will receive some recognition, this greater honor will go to the British academy.
Many people would like to see Sir Austin Webb, the architect, become the successor to the late Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema as a member of this order.

It is said that John S. Sargent, the American artist, would have received it had he become a British subject.
Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the actor, it is said, will be dubbed a knight.
Prince Arthur of Connaught, the son of the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, is due to receive a dukedom, probably that of Kent, but this may be postponed until the king's birthday.

New peerages will be few and all of them outside of parliament as the government is not willing to run any further risk of losing bye-elections.

DEARTH OF MEN TEACHERS IN NEW YORK CITY SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Equal pay for New York school teachers, that is no discrimination so far as sex is concerned, has resulted in such a falling off in the enrollment of male teachers that President Edwinton L. Whitthrop, Jr., of the board of education seriously deplores the loss in his annual report, made public today. The new equal pay law went into effect only this year and while President Whitthrop considers it too early to forecast the result, he finds that already there is a regrettable loss of men applicants for teaching positions. He regrets this because the influence of men, especially upon boys in the upper grades, is regarded as most advantageous. In other respects he believes the equal pay law has benefited the school system. An interesting action taken by the board of education was the discharge of a woman teacher who had taken an examination under her maiden name, with the idea of keeping secret her marriage.

Colorado Springs People

WHO CONTEMPLATE BUYING FARM LAND will do well to make their selection now, as already inquiries are coming from the east, and choice tracts, close to schools, churches and railway, with surface water, at $5 to $12 an acre, will soon be only a memory. Break away from your $50 to $75 job, and land on the land with cows, chickens, pigs and scientific farming, and become a producer, and watch the consumer squirm when he has to pay your price or go hungry. I know where some of the good tracts of land are and I will tell you if you will come in.
